Re: Objection to Proposed Preemption of Indiana No-Call Law

It has come to my attention that the Consumer Bankers Association is attempting to override the authority of the State of Indiana to enforce its No-Call law.

I wish to formally object to any change in the Indiana law.

Before signing up for the no-call list in Indiana, our lives were being constantly disrupted by unwanted calls from solicitors at all times of the day. Thanks to the initiative of Mr. Steve Carter, Indiana's Attorney General, these disruptions have been curbed almost entirely. Now it is my understanding that you are considering bringing us back to the days of constant irritation from these invasions via our phone lines.

I urge you to reject the pleas being made by the CBA, or any other group, who wish to resume their invasion into our homes.

Sincerely,
